SUMMARY

I am a self-directed web developer and content creator who loves learning and thinking creatively. When I build web applications, I focus on security, functionality and creating clear data visualizations as part of an appealing user interface. My ability to communicate directly, honestly and sensitively is an asset to professional environments that value teamwork, diversity and equality.

PROJECTS

Online Portfolio–<https://www.lindsayjohnston.com>

- A web-based showcase of my programming and web design work using SASS and React.js
- Responsive design ensures excellence in user experience across all devices

GitHub API User Map–<https://github-map-real.herokuapp.com/>

- Interactive data visualization app that uses REST APIs and fetches information from Google, GitHub, and Geonames
- Processes complex datasets from a variety of domains using JavaScript algorithms
- Protects sensitive information with back-end configuration variables

E-commerce Ordering System–www.bocaloud.com

- Fully responsive website deployed on AWS that mimics chipotle.com in style and functionality
- Uses React to create easily-editable and scalable content displays that respond to database input
- Allows user to tailor orders, add and remove items from their cart, and place an order for pickup
